Radian™

New Generation of Storage

Radii is a unique offering of metal storage pedestals and undermounts, plus work tools designed to accommodate personal items alongside office items.

As the shift towards digital documentation becomes more prevalent, the space that's freed up inside storage units is occupied with workers' personal belongings. Radii addresses the need to stow, rather than store, in a compact, space-efficient design that allows people to stay productive and connected to their work.

User-Defined

Radii keeps personal and everyday essentials within reach with undermounted accessibility that moves with the user as the worksurface raises and lowers. Deep pedestal drawers accommodate larger items like a purse or bag, and removable trays organize smaller items like supplies. The alcove pedestal provides a convenient nook to contain clutter and clean up visual chaos. Simple work tools allow users to continually customize their storage solution.

Smart Options

Radii optimizes workplace efficiency with a slim design that doesn't compromise the compressed work area. Extended top edges and cutouts on undermount and pedestal units turn previously unavailable space into usable ledges to conveniently hang and rearrange bins and clip accessories. Intelligent work tools and functional details allow users to make better use of their individual space, as well as personalize it.
